

Trust collapses during the disruption and fully recovers at every δ — higher δ reacts faster (steeper fall, quicker rebound); the customer always returns

